“ Dear Family, John has been a friend to us since he started to attend Croswell Wesleyan Church and the Grief Share program there in the fall of 2007. His compassion and empathy for the grieving was so evident that he was asked to become a facilitator for the group. John was a Godly man who was quick to open the Holy Bible that he carried so he could read some verses to encourage the attendees. His Biblical knowledge, quick wit and kind gestures made him a wonderful asset to the group. He was sure to tell the group members that he wasn't embarrassed to cry in front of others...and continued to model that through the years. He was known to slip me a little money every so often to help to contribute to the workbooks and 'comfort food' that was provided for and served to the group. A memorable quote was, "Don't wait for someone to die to send them flowers." He became a personal friend and dependable helper for many years. Even as his health was failing, he continued to come whenever he could...and actually attended the first two sessions in early January of this year. Such dedication. When asked how he was doing, he'd reply, "Better than most, but not as good as you!!" He was sure to tell us not to send him Thank You notes because he was simply serving his Lord and Savior. He would remind us that all the Thanks belongs to the Lord. So in closing, we'd simply like to say, "Thank You John!!"
