“ I remember every day I walked into work Caleb was always there to help and always telling me what he needed. He would always say hi to me every time I saw him and would always use his manners. I am so sad to hear about him and I wish the best for his family and everyone that's grieving him ❤️

“ Dear Lee family,
My name is Karolina Jones and I am the Director of Nursing at the Village of East Harbor. I met Caleb in April when he came in for his job interview. He was professionally dressed, gave me a firm handshake, introduced himself, and smiled ear to ear. His interview went well, and he caught me off guard with his professionalism, something I do not see in young adults these days. The way he spoke, and the way he carried himself was that of an older adult. When I found out he was 19 years old I was blown away. He restored my faith in humanity that day. I thought to myself, thank God there are still parents who raise good children, and young adults who listen to the advice of their parents. His outlook about the possibility to work at Village of East Harbor was refreshing, and gave me hope to keep searching for new candidates just like him. He was loved by everyone, from staff to residents. He was often recognized by our residents in our monthly surveys. He had a kind spirit, always smiled, and helped everyone. I was thrilled to hear he was pursuing a career in the medical field. I speak for everyone when I say his passing impacted everyone at the Village. He will be missed by all, and I pray for God’s peace to comfort all of you during this very difficult time.

“ Caleb was in my English class at Macomb Community College and I could tell he was a very kind soul. I had a few positive interactions with him— he said hello to me after class, complimented my croc gems, and was very kind and a good listener in my English group last week. The positive interactions I had with him made an impact on me, especially him saying hello after class; it was an unexpected but kind gesture that stuck with me. I was saddened to hear about his passing from our professor, and I just wanted to say that I’m sending my condolences to his friends and family. I send all my comfort during this difficult time 🌸🙏 -Lauren Pryor

“ In highschool me, Caleb, eddie, and a few others were always in the auto shop together never really getting much done haha, but me and Caleb would talk about cars we liked here and there and he was super nice and passionate about what he liked. I Will never forget the day me and him had to test drive a car in the shop because we were the only ones who could drive stick shift and we thought we were racecar drivers in this little Volkswagen.

“ I work and trained Caleb at the Village of East Harbor. I remember the first time I saw him he was eager to learn. We talked about how he loved working out at the gym. I talk to him about me wanting to lose weight and getting healthier so he started teaching me about healthy eating, the equipment at the gym, Lord, how we laughed about that because I didn't know anything. I pushed him to do better, be better. I told him if I could do it over again with my dreams and goals would be and he told me what his were. I will miss Caleb very much. while our coworkers nicknamed him my work son I took that very serious. Peace be with you my friend Caleb. Forever your nurse Jean.

“ I struggle with my words. I am completely devastated to hear of your departure. When I first met you, you were so bright eyed and bushy tailed eager to learn I took you under my wing. I taught you everything I know to help you become a better CNA. I was so proud of what you accomplished. I know I pushed you to go back to school and do better, learn more, be better than I am. Caleb , you were with me on my journey of weight loss you taught me how to eat better. learning how to use the gym equipment, now that was funny, I didn't know what I was doing and you took the time and taught me. I am grateful and thankful. My brain cannot understand why you would give me an assignment for this week to use the elliptical for 3 miles a day and for me and you to talk this coming Friday to check on my progress. I know everybody jokes about how you were my work son. But I took that very seriously. All of the talks that we've had your hopes my dreams. I'll miss you, my friend. Forever your Ms Jean

“ *Caleb worked with me at the Village of East Harbor. Not only was he loved by all his coworkers but his residents adored him. He always had a smile on his face even when work environment was hectic. He never gave in to the negativity at work he always had a positive attitude and the most beautiful smile. We his coworkers were devastated by the news of his passing. He will very much be missed by all of us. He made a difference to everyone he came into contact with. Our halls at work will never smell as good as when he was here, every day we would compliment him on how good he smelled. I wholeheartedly wish God would have brought him back to us. We are all sending up prayers for the family during this heartbreaking time. Our hearts go out to each and every one of you.
