“ I remember spending the summer I was 14 with Connie and Dennis in their tiny apartment in Mt Clemens. Dennis worked the late shift and Connie didn't like spending the nights alone. I took baby Kimberly on buggy rides while Connie straightened up the apartment or cooked dinner for her and I. We spent the evening playing Uno or Scrabble. Friday nights were scary because the Mt. Clemens Speedway was right down the road, it was a wonder Kim even slept. When the nightly train came it shook the whole apartment, it literally was out the back door. Connie had just moved to Michigan with my older brother Dennis to start their new lives together after leaving the service. We talked a lot about our families.

“ I remember on September 15, 2009 sitting in the waiting room with Dennis and Connie. Together we anxiously awaited the birth of our dear granddaughter Sydney. It was a bonding of families. Big sister Sierra was in the room with Keith and Catherine.
