“ I have good memories of my mom. She always wanted the best for her family. She worked hard jobs to help us have a good life. I remember her spending a lot of time planning our birthday parties. She always thought less of herself and more of her family. When my mom went through hard times she didn't give up. Her enduring polish determination would come to the surface and help her through it. Mom, I miss you more than I can say, but I look forward to seeing you again and race you down the streets of gold toward the GOD who saved us both.
