“ Oh Donald, another Christmas without you and it still just doesn't feel right without your presence or your name on my gift list 😞 so many things I see that remind me of you that I want to get for you and I can't and it bugs me. All the things I want to tell you and ask you and show you. The stories I want to hear. I still keep thinking to myself wow I can't believe he's really not here anymore. And it seems to just still leave me speechless and mind blowing I guess you could say. We just miss you in the household and I'm always worrying about grandma extra more now that your not there to to take care of her and keep her company. I hope u watch over her and give her peace of mind and comfort as I know she hurts and misses you every day. Love you bruncler oh and please keep the snow away if possible thanks 😞

“ My brother, I know I left you with a great burden when I left. I am so sorry. My addiction was so bad. I couldn't get a handle on it. I left, I couldn't stay and put the family at risk of watching me kill myself or worse. I truly believed it was the only thing I could do. What I regret the most is not ever having the chance to apologize in person. I felt your presence many times since you passed. I love you baby brother. We had such good times together. I Know you forgave me. I also know you helped bring me and Mom back together. We've talked several times on the phone. Please watch over her. Please be a gaurdian Angel for us all. Also check in on Halie from time to time. She's a handful, so much like me it scares me. Watch over Nicole, She's like I used to be. Taking care of everyone. She really misses you. Tell Grandma and Don I miss them. Miss you.

“ I can't believe in 2 months it will be a year since you been gone already.....some days its easier to put you in the back of my mind to push away the pain of your loss but somedays the pain is stronger than the hold and there's no more push left and the pain is released and I feel your loss all over again until I get the strength to push it down again. I just miss you so much. Everytime I go to grandmas its like ripping a band aid off and I feel it again the missing of your presence. Every holdiay and family event is sad because I know your not there or ever going to be there again and that my heart just hasn't excepted yet. We miss you so much. We love you and nothing will ever change that. Xxoo

I mean I get it no matter who it is life still has to go on but I'm just having a hard time. I think of you everyday sometimes all day. It's a feeling that I have never felt before. Just still feels like I just got the news. I can't believe your not here anymore. The longer I go without seeing you seems like the harder it is hitting. I think the weather too is part of it because I know you would have been so excited about it finally warming up outside. You couldn't wait for it to warm up. One of my favorite things was to see you get excited over things.....you were just like a little kid with the way you got excited and I loved it. Especially over fireworks haha you loved fireworks. I know you were not all about being in your feelings or into any of the lovey dovey stuff but I hope you know that I love you very much. *Ive asked myself why, why has your passing affected me so much ?
Our family has lost so many people over the years , and each time the emotional pain*

*Is immense. But your different .Why does it hurt so much, why do i cry without warning ? Is it my own mortality, is it because your my little brother and you were suppose to be here long past me or because i couldnt save you...in these days since you passed , ive watched your many friends ,coworkers, cry and listened to the stories of devotion and love you showed them and our family and i realized why we all feel so much pain...why we miss u and will always miss you so much. You were everything we all wished we could be ..you were rare and special.,you were a joke when we were down ,you were a neverending laugh when times were tough.
You without a second thought worked so hard and gave everything you had to take care of our mother you loved so much...you saw the good in everything..you loved your friends , your family, your music and wow you were so talented at music..from the time they brought you home you were special Donald. everyone just liked being near you ,your happiness your smile..your innocence. You always had big plans , ideas ..always the dreamer . i guess it was silly to think god would let us keep you forever , you were too special . We love you because you were rare , we wished we could be like you ,we wish we could see your beautiful smiling face one more time and hold you and never let go.. I will never say goodbye because i want you to be with me foever..I am so proud to say your my brother ...

“ Words will never express the shattered heart i have for your passing my best friend. I remember the 1st day i met you, You where jamming in the garage to Bon Jovi's Runaway blasting out of your dads PA. It changed my life forever. You and i always had a bond that was inseparable. Your drumming ability and my guitar playing just was unmatched by any band in the area. We smoked everyone Donnie. And we knew it, But never bragged and stayed humble. Not many people knew you the way i do buddy. And that's what is going to make it so hard to cope with this. How and when my mind will grasp onto the thought that i will never hear your voice calling for me to come and jam. Never hear your voice to go out for breakfast. Never hear your voice asking my opinion on stuff before you made an investment. I hope the good lord had a good reason for taking you from us so soon. I love our lord more than anything but the reason he took you from me/us will never make sense to me because in my eyes and through this life, I/We needed you more. My heart and soul will be crushed for eternity. You beat them golden drums good for heaven's audience Donnie. Save some energy for me my brother. Your gonna need it when we see each other again. Much love for Don's family.

Good night my friend. I'll miss you forever :(
