“ Doug and I met in junior high school.
Doug always seemed to have a flare for jokes and card tricks.
We were always trying to make each other laugh.
After his family moved to Marine City because of the I696
construction,
we didn't see each other often.
And after many years we had the opportunity to get together again
and it was like two brothers reuniting.
The last time we saw each other we hugged goodbye like it was forever and in fact, it was.
RIP Doug,
