Something about this man seems to always protect me why I'm on my travels. When I was driving alone across country his obituary fell out onto my lap when I was outside of his base around the st. Louis area I believe. And on Friday I got into a collision with a telephone pole and totaled my Jeep and I looked down and it was at my feet. I believe he's my guardian angel while I'm driving lol because he knows how much I love his mother and he knows how bad of a driver I am. Lol. Lynette you did an amazing job with him. I believe the Lord has given me him as my personal guardian angel. Thank you Lynette you truly raised an amazing young man

“Lynette, Lindsey, Gigi, and Papi, here we are at the end of summer. I made it through by the grace of God, but I am so grateful for all of you. Words cannot express how thankful I am to have each of you in my life. You'll never know how much your love and support has helped me just get through these past few months without Maine. At my lowest moments, I've come to see you and left with a smile and so many happy memories of him in my heart. I don't know what I'd do without you all. Maine and I had so much planned for this summer, and I watched it all go by without him. We had such a promising plan for our future. Each day is still a struggle, and I imagine it will be for a long time to come, but I'm so blessed to still have his family, "my family". I see so much of him in all of you, and when I'm with you, I know he's there too. I love you all from the bottom of my heart, and I miss him terribly. For the past 2 1/2 years, he has been the first person I spoke with in the morning and the last person I spoke with at night. I've had to relearn how to live life without him. One thing is for sure though, I am a much better person because of him. He taught me kindness, compassion, and how to think "outside the box". He taught me to look to God for support when I need it most. He always had the best advice. He was my world - my best friend, and the love of my life. My life will never be the same and I will love him until the day I die, just as he told me he would. Rest in peace my angel, it may be a while, but I'll join you again one day. I still need you.

“ So I have always lived my life by the premise of "all things happen for a reason", but I for the life of me cannot figure out the reason why a man with such promise for a bright future and love in his heart could be taken away from everyone that loves him so soon. My heart hurts for his young children who will now group up never really knowing the wonderful man their father was. My heart hurts for his family that he was close to because I understand what the loss of an immediate family member feels like. My heart hurts the most for my closet and dearest friend in the world that has lost the man she loves. She is my sister and when she is lost and hurt, so am I. I love you to the end of the earth Jennifer. Jermaine, you will be missed by so many, so deeply. If there was a way to turn back the hands of time, I would do it in a second.

“ To Reeves/Lloyd Family "Those we love don't go away, they reside in our memories everyday. Unseen, unheard but always near. Still loved, still missed and very dear. I remember when you first came back from boot camp i was amazed the MAN you became, i was truly proud of you. I received your message on may 12th and i didn't get back to u and I am so sorry i didn't.... But to answer your question buddy I am doing well and having my 3rd child. I will miss you more now that i cant pass through New Haven this summer and see you pumping gas. I pray that your little ones will know how amazing you are. That God has you in his arms now.
