“ To my Dear Mother from her grateful son Vernell Neil Jr. I love you and miss you. I know that you are resting in peace, for any good mother and grandmother of 180 children and with all the washing, cooking and house cleaning, you sure have earned it. My mother was the easiest person to be with as well as the easiest person to please that I have ever known. She did not want much of anything but her family. And never complained about much of anything except when she and dad talked about politics. And most of all she was the most honest person next to my dad I ever knew. She could not lie, cheat, or steal. She always said if you do any of those, you are guilty of all three. Thanks Ma for everything, I just wish I was smart enough to have said it while you were still alive.
