“ One of my closest lifelong friends, he and his family moved in across the street when he was 4 y/o. I think of, and miss him, all of the time. When he died, he took a piece of me with him.

“ My memory of Ian is limited to Mrs. Smith's Kindergarten class so forgive me if the details are a bit off. I was an extremely shy kid and as some of you know, kids can be cruel. It's like a seal being dropped into an ocean of hungry whales. Instead of being a bully, Ian and I quickly became friends. He helped make kindergarten for a painfully shy kid at least partially tolerable. I was held back from advancing into the first grade with the rest of the class. As a matter of fact, I ended up going to a different school for a year. We parted ways because of that. I wish we had kept in contact. My sister remembers us playing in the backyard like kids do. She recalled him as a freckle faced boy who was somewhat of a free spirit. Free spirit...free spirit is a great description. He will be missed!
