“ mom you may be gone from our sight but you live on in our hearts. you wanted us all to rejoice knowing you are out of pain but you realized that would be hard for us because all our hearts feel like they are breaking you asked we all move on quickly through the grief and pain and realize there is so much more to life than sorrow. you have taken kids in all my life and treated each one as your own and asked them to call you mom. I believe i am a better person knowing i have a great mom like you. i know i can still come to you when things are bothering me. i may have to wait a while to get an answer to my problems but when the time is right i will know what to do. i love you momma

“ My little sis, I have so many memories of our childhood... I will never forget the time you thought you were the strongest girl in the world, for quite a long time you did things to prove it to. Lifting things, that were really to heavy for you, or the time you carried a mattress home on your back, for me. I love you so much. Sing with the angels, you have a beautiful voice. Rest knowing that if your children need me I'll be there for them.
