“ I remember going into kroger and him always saying " ya gotta try this chicken" he is someone who took pride in his work and his cooking. Whenever he made something would offer to try some.. He always said hi and asked how it was going and his laugh was one of a kind.

“ Jason was one of those people that loved being silly. I remember him always playing pranks on people. I remember the first time I met him and how much he loved to laugh. His laugh is one of those things that was infectious.. It is a sound I can never forget. His laugh alone would make me laugh. He never took anything too seriously and made everything fun. Holidays were full of fun and always focused on the family. Yelling at me from time to time to get off my phone and help me be present because we never knew what tomorrow would bring. He loved cooking for everyone and making people feel loved with every meal. He would take the time and no one has ever made a better Turkey. He cared about people. His love language was cooking for those he loved. Jason will be missed greatly. We will miss him every day.
