“ This is a Story of a Man named Joe, a kid in the "The Pie". What a group of families we had wedged in there and as you know Joe was one of them. For that slice of Warren produced all kinds of "Fine Citizens" Joe Dec was among the finest. He was a quiet boy but stuck out rather innocently with his red hair. As youngsters we'd roam the neighborhood looking for fun and McKinley was the place to find it with ballgames or Parks/rec in the summer to ice hockey or hitching in the winter we'd cross each others paths. As we grew older our lives would move us in different directions and soon only the memories survived. Then one day I was looking up some of those "memories" and Joe was one of them. I'm glad we had the time to reconnect and catch up with each others lives. Joe gave us the opportunity to share our lives once again with his willingness to open his "McKinley" to all who wanted to come, I thank You Joe (Evelyn) for the time you have given me to be part of once again "The Pie". The time with Family and Friends brought more happiness to Joe(ok his mustang) for he cherished those moments and held them close to his heart and up til the end put a smile on his face. Love you Joe! So long once again for one day we'll have our "McKinley again!
