“ She was my cousin and I loved her dearly. Was in touch with her the evening before her first hospital visit. She will me missed. Last saw her in 2009, We all went out for lunch, myself, my husband Gary and Karen. She was in her best form. Always witty and smiling. This picture of her in her white hat is exceptional. I thank her caregiver, Chris Brice, for being there to help her whenever needed and wish her only God's best.

“ I lived down the street from Karen while we were growing up and remember so much! The days we used to camp out in her back yard. - walking down the railroad tracks and climbing up into the boxcars on the siding. We then got brave and ran and jumped from one boxcar to another! Once and only once, we climbed down inside an empty coal car only to discover we couldn't then reach the ladder to climb out! I finally boosted Karen up to the ladder since I was taller and she was able to turn around and grab my hand and help me reach the bottom rung to climb up! Once we were walking back and met a man who scared us and told us to never go back to the boxcars as hobos lived in them and would kidnap us! We were soooo scared we never went back and only later realized he was probably a hobo and was trying to keep us away so we didn't get killed or worse! I have so many memories of living so close to each other for years. I had tried to contact her last year, but my Christmas card came back and the email she gave me wasn't legible and I didn't have a phone number.

I wish I had known, she was very upset not knowing where you were we talked of you often and she would loved to have visited with you. She shared many memories of the two of you in our conversations and she missed you dearly. Nancy Armstrong Wagner*
