I miss those times we had growing up, when we'd all get together - your mom kim, Julie, our moms, my mom Jessica jenny eric Courtney katie, Those days meant everything to me. There was something special about being together, just hanging out and being family. The laughter, the conversations, the way we could just be ourselves around each other - those are memories I hold onto so tight now. You and Julie together, that twin bond you shared, it was something beautiful to witness. And having our moms there with us, it made everything feel warm and safe and like we were exactly where we were supposed to be.
