“ I went to school with Laurie and her brother. She was a cheerleader on the same squad as me for a year. After we graduated we hung out in the 80s when we both lived in West Water. I'm so sad to hear of her passing. She was a very nice person. May you rest in heavenly peace Laurie!! Sending thoughts and prayers to her family and her kids who I know were her pride and joy!!

“ The memory of Laurie & Laurie went to my church 1 day on a sunday morning at first church of Nazareth. Laurie cut the grass for me at my mom's & dad's house. Melissa & Me & Laurie & her friend Karen went to mcmorran place theatre for wsaq q country 107.1 fm for the spring anniversary concert. Laurie & Me went to big boy restaurant for lunch & after lunch & then we went to Wal-Mart. Laurie like to light a candle at night time & said it is nice & cozy. Laurie like to read the daily bread 🍞 & the bible. Laurie like to watch the Detroit piston with her son ryan. Laurie is in a better place now up in heaven & Laurie will not have trouble with her codp anymore up in heaven. RIP Laurie & Love You So So Much & Miss You So So Much.

“ The most treasured memory?? There are so many, I can't classify a favorite, listorine was one we were 7 and 8 years old and I tried to use this mouthwash and it liked to kill me it was so terrible. In our teenage years she was so very book smart, and street smart too. She was such a pretty girl I had friends only because I was the way to her maybe. Laurie was a very spiritual person, yet suffered with much depression, I'm going to miss her alot, though we live a thousand miles apart we remained close to each other, more so than any other people within my imeadiate family. She was also a very intelligent lady but the best gift I think she had was her faith in Jesus Christ, which gives me great comfort knowing she is like a close friend of mine said up there dancing with Jesus. That's home to my sister and she has longed to be there, so while it's sad she died young, for us still on Earth my sister is in a much better place.
