“Lynn was truly "One of a kind". Her smile was so genuine, her love so enduring, and her laugh truly warmed your soul. She was very outgoing, and chatted up friendships with other ladies wherever she went. She was never focused on material things, but rather just wanted to enjoy life to the fullest with someone who felt the same way. Lynn enjoyed travel. She wintered on the water in Fort Myers, Florida, Down south, she enjoyed boating, motorcycle riding, and outdoor entertainment venues. She was also an active member of the Moose Lodge. She had numerous friends in the south that will miss her upbeat presence. Up north, Lynn enjoyed the St. Clair River and the boating adventures it offered, plus trips to other areas for festivals, concerts, etc., and oh those twin grandsons. She loved them so much, and brought them to Marine City for swimming, cookouts, boat rides, and sleepovers. Lynn packed a lot of adventure into her life, associating with the people who had positive meaning for her to enjoy. Lynn had a pretty basic philosophy in life. She associated with those who made her life happy, and avoided the people who were a negative force in her life. The last 5 years of her life were wonderful years because of this.
