“ Nancy you will be missed by all the people who's lives you touched. I thought of you as a second mother to me for all these years. Even though there were times people did not understand how to take you, you still took them as part of your family. I am honored to be one of the lucky people to be able to say i knew you. You were kind to me an my family. We love you Nancy and will never forget you.

“ A hero to me is someone who understands you, without pretending to - someone who will listen to your worries and offer you advice - or admit honestly that they don't know how to help. A hero, to me, is someone who can make you smile without meaning to, and brighten up your day when so far it's been pretty shitty. A hero is someone who sticks up for you when other people turn against you, someone who isn't afraid to help you fight your battles, whatever they may be. A hero is someone who lets you cry when you're sad, cries with you when you're happy, and isn't jealous of a single thing in your life. A hero is someone who'll hug you for no reason, wrapping you in their arms for safety, love and unity. A hero is someone who'll call just to see if you got home alright or to bullshit about nothing. A hero is a true, honest friend. This is what my mom was to me :)
