“ I worked with Nick at Fresenius. Nick was such a compassionate, caring man who took excellent care of his patients. They all loved him. He was extremely intelligent and could figure out almost anything in the unit from machines to a patient emergency with ease. He had a profound love for his son. He would talk about him all the time and how he was his entire world and he would beam with excitement when his boy would learn a new task. Nick always had jokes he would say or make a bad situation funny. I will always remember him as the funny, goofy, smart, compassionate, caring man who had a strong love for his son.

I worked with Nick years ago at Medilodge of St Clair, he was the best most caring and funny guy that I know will be missed especially by his son who he loved more than anything.
