“ Pat was always a picture of a wholesome young man with a positive outlook on life. He had a welcoming friendly smile whenever we encountered each other and said hi. I have wonderful memories of him and wanted him to be successful in whatever his ambitions were. He was a delight to encounter in our childhood and adolescent years and I will miss him; but cherish his memory. "God Bless You in Heaven Pat"! Say hi to everyone we know there and let Fr. Lorenz know we truly did appreciate his guidance and the masses he celebrated for us at St. Suzanne's. Someday we'll meet up in Heaven Pat and we'll rejoice with all our earthly departed friends who are at peace..... and be glad.

“ Patrick was my "baby brother".

*He was the youngest of 4 kids.
Only my dear sister was the oldest child,
and only girl.*

*I retired from Teaching, and moved to Chiang Mai, THAILAND
10 yrs ago.*

But, I have never forgotten "THE ONE and ONLY" PATRICK JEROME.

*He was my brother,
and I continue to love him.*

I carry YOU in my heart little brother, with love.

NINO who never stopped loving YOU

“ Seems so odd to have a day without you..and I have had a few weeks now..and I can hear you say 'so? how's that working for you?'

By now, you see I was right. You do KNOW there is indeed an afterlife. I know the pain is over, I know the joy only God can give you and I am sure is. I can see you walk without pain, I can see you hustling a game of something UP THERE ^^^^, but I only have saved phone messages to hear your voice, and emails to read your comic nature, and memories of our last conversations to remember your fears and regrets and yes, even your angers and disappointments in this world...

and frankly? I miss you. I have met your brothers...I hear your voice when I speak to Nino. I read the book to know your struggle. And I want to say I am so proud of the man you became. The man I KNEW. Generous to a fault. Not a mean streak in him. God keep you happy Heavy, and when you decide to 'visit me'? NOT BEFORE NOON remember!

I was not going to let him be alone....his stubbornness? got in the way many times...he fought this cancer, so hard. It excepted his fate with Grace. FYI? the man LOVED graham crackers....enjoy some for him today and pray for him
