“ Uncle Bob, a quiet one if you ask me, and those are the ones you have to watch out for. He had a poker face for sure, never could tell when he was pulling your leg, he was that good. I was always glad to see him as I grew up, sometimes working his trade installing doors for family, or at the occasional family gathering at our Grandmas until we all got to big to fit in her house at once. He didn't travel much except for work, golf, family, and his mother weather she needed him or not. He never had a harsh word to say to us no matter how many times he tell us not to jump off the back porch that was enclosed and became part of the family room, it was fun and I am surprised no one ended up with stitches. Can you imagine the noise of five extra kids when our family showed up. I am sure they issued themselves ears plugs, drank more or chained smoked the whole time we were there. You will be missed Uncle Bob, keep the door to heaven working and don't put a lock on it, some of you family will be out past curfew.

“ Uncle Bob was a great man. He always loved joking around. I remember when I was younger and the family would sit around and played poker. Just because you were kid did not mean he was going to let you win!!! Lol. Whenever he came over and helped Dad out with a project he always had the patience to put up with a little girl who loved to annoy the crap out of him while he worked. He is going to be miss!!! Love you so much Uncle Bob!!!

“ Our father was a kind and loving man. He worked hard his entire life to support his family and instilled great work ethics and character in his children. He was a loyal man who would do whatever he could to help his family and friends. He kept his sense of humor right up to the end in his attempt to shield his family from his pain.. He was joined by his son in law, fred(my husband just 10 days later. The family has decided to change the celebration of life dinner to May 23 in order to honor them both. For further details contact one of the family members. Both will me missed and memories will help the healing process which will take a long time of tears and smiles combined to mend.
