“ There are no words to describe how I feel and how heartbroken i am mama. I am trying to stay strong knowing the fact you are dancing with pops again and rejoicing high in the sky..my heart is broken and will never heal right but I'm holding on to faith that the missing pieces to your broken heart are now put back together as you're reunited with your best friend,soulmate and husband... give pops a long hug for me and tell him I miss him so much and cant wait to give him a titty twister. I love you both and you've been the best parents i could've had.....I'm holding on to you as tight as i did in this picture and I'll never let go. Until we reunite I'll try to hold my head up and paint a smile on my face....
