“ To: My baby sister
You have no idea how much emptiness there is in my heart. The pain of knowing I can never speak to you again is unbearable. You have always amazed me with your talents, kindness and generosity. Even though we had our differences, we always had each other. You were always there for me, and I was always there for you. That we always knew and depended on. The last we spoke, we told each other how much we loved each other, and that was from our hearts. Nothing would or could ever change and it still is today. You have always made me proud, from graduating with your BA in Human Resources, to being a pilot or a real estate broker. You were a restless soul seeking a place. Finally, you found it when you converted back to Catholicism, just like mom. You were happy. Your new found friends made you complete. You found your place. I do believe everything has a meaning. We found our brother after more than 10 years a day before you left us. He spoke to you and I do hope you heard him. We three were always close in the beginning and will be to the end. I will love you forever my baby sister, may God Bless your soul and grant you eternal life.

“ I also knew of Sharon through our Litsy group - she was always so kind. We are all shocked to hear of her sudden passing and grieve along with her friends and family.
May her memory be eternal <3

“ I only knew Sharon from being on Litsy (a book lovers app) together. She was part of a group who sent snail mail to each other. So I corresponded with her for a couple years. She was so special to me, even though we never met, I knew what a kind person she was. And we shared our faith. I know she has seen our Savior face to face and is now receiving her eternal life. Hallelujah for our heavenly home. My deepest sympathies to her family

“ I knew Sharon from our Women's Group at Church, Women of Mary (WoM). She was always smiling and touched so many us. She was so friendly and thoughtful and also a lot of fun to be around. I was just so sad to hear of her passing. May God wrap His loving arms around your family & know we are praying for you all. ~Melissa Galecka

PS: I also tried uploading a few photos of Sharon from a couple of our meetings.
