“ Tim I dont know if I ever told you how proud of you I am. I am so proud of you and the man you became. I miss you so much. I wish I could have been with you. Ill miss your jokes your amazing personality. You were always upbeat and a fighter. You proved you were a fighter over and over again. I have comfort in knowing you no longer need a wheelchair. You are back to how you were born. We will make sure we are in TJs life bc I know thats what you would want. Tim Id do anything to have you back. My heart is broken and will never be the same. “🙏🙏🙏❤️ I love you big brother, and I will forever miss you, your goofy jokes, the light you brought to this world was like no other. Everything you went through in life and you kept fighting through everything came back from near death more times than I can count. You never gave up, you never stopped smiling. I will miss so much about you it hurts so bad beyond words. I remember when I was a little kid you were babysitting me and got talking to your dad and I went out the window and to the barnyard carrying my stuffed bunny and I walked straight up to the huge above ground pool we had, dropped my bunny in accidentally and fell in trying to grab it. I started drowning because I couldn't swim and you came out and found I was in the pool drowning and hurried up and wheeled over (for those of you who know my brother was paralyzed and in a wheelchair) to Jamie's window (our oldest brother) who had to run out and grab me and give me cpr. If it wasn't for you acting quickly I wouldn't be here today. In a way you gave me life and my heart break's that I couldn't save you. I also remember driving down the road as a kid and hearing you say "I smell Bacon I smell pork, run run run little piggy I've got a fork," a a cop drove by us. You were just comical like that never a dull moment. You always brought laughter and happiness to whoever you were around. You lit up the room when you walked into it. I love you so much and I miss you so much. I'm angry that you didn't get nearly enough time on this earth. Angry you didn't get nearly enough time with your son. I hope you had the greatest family reunion when you got up there in heaven I'm glad you will get to know our brother mark. I'm glad you get to see Joseph again and Grandma pettee and grandma Becky and your aunt bev. Give them all big hugs and kisses from us all. A piece of my heart will forever be empty. We shouldn't have to be saying goodbye. I hope you felt so happy when you finally were able to walk again when you got up there. This still doesn't seem real. I love you big brother. Watch over your little family and keep them safe and comfort them. I miss you timby. I love you to the moon and back.
